

CHAPTER ONE - THE RALPH MCGEE FAMILY

Generation No. 2

1. RALPH² MCGEE (JOHN¹) was born January 08, 1827 in Butler County, Ohio, and died June 20, 1909 in Decatur County, Indiana. He married SARAH BRADFORD JONES February 24, 1850 in Franklin County, Indiana, daughter of PHILIP JONES and SARAH CROSLY. She was born April 12, 1832 in Franklin County, Indiana, and died February 03, 1906 in Decatur County, Indiana.

Notes for RALPH MCGEE:

Ralph McGee was the first child born to John McGee (Jr.) and his second wife, Jane Cassel. He was named for his grandfather, Ralph Cassel, a Revolutionary War veteran who settled in Oxford, Ohio with his family before 1820. Ralph McGee was only about 10 years old when his half-brother, John Simpson McGee, left their home in Fayette County, Indiana and struck out on his own for central Kentucky. Approximately ten years later, Ralph's parents would also leave Fayette County, moving some 100 miles northwest to settle in Clinton County, Indiana. When his parents moved away, Ralph remained behind, and on February 24, 1850, he married Sarah Jones, the daughter of a successful Franklin County farmer. The 1850 U.S. Franklin County Census shows the newlyweds living with her parents in Springfield Township.

The 1850 census for Springfield Township, Franklin County, Indiana lists Philip Jones, age 61, a farmer and head of the household, b. in PA; his wife, Sarah, age 53, b. in Ohio; a daughter, Sarah McGee, age 18, b. in Indiana; a son, Tenley Jones, age 15, b. in Indiana; and Ralph McGee, age 22, b. in Indiana. The value of real estate owned by Philip Jones was $6400.00. (Note: The birth place of Indiana listed for Ralph McGee was incorrect. Ralph was born in Ohio, and all subsequent census reports list his place of birth as Ohio).

In 1853, Ralph and Sarah moved to neighboring Decatur County, Indiana and purchased 141 acres of land in Washington Township. It is here that the couple would reside for the remainder of their lives, raising nine children to adulthood. Ralph McGee became a prominent citizen and one of the most successful farmers in the county. One of his specialties was raising hogs, and his Poland China hogs were famous for their great weight and quality throughout the area. He was also one of the first farmers in the area to drain the subsurface of his land using below-ground drainage tiles which he manufactured himself, thereby creating fertile farmland from what was once unproductive acreage. It was thought by some authorities that too much subsurface water inhibited root development and greatly lowered crop yields, whereas a network of below-ground pipes would allow the subsurface water to move out of fields to collection areas. Ralph McGee believed in this idea, and his example was quickly followed by other farmers. Ralph McGee became a wealthy man as a result of farming and his successful tile manufacturing business.

The 1860 census for Greensburg Post Office, Washington Township, Decatur County, Indiana lists Ralph McGee, age 32, head, a farmer, b. in Ohio; his wife, Sarah B., age 28, housewife; a son, John P., age 9; a daughter, Sarah J., age 7; a daughter, Mary E., age 6; a son, William H., age 4; and a son, Charles L., age 2. All children were born in Indiana. Also living on the farm was Lucas Turner, age 52, a farm laborer.

The 1870 census for Greensburg Post Office, Washington Township, Decatur County, Indiana lists Ralph McGee, age 42, head, a farmer, b. in Ohio; his wife, Sarah, age 38; a son, Philip, age 19; a daughter, Sarah, age 17; a daughter, Mary, age 15; a son, William, age 14; a son, Charles, age 12; a son, Martin, age 6; a son, James, age 4; a daughter, Martha, age 1; and a son, Ralph, age 10. Mother and all children were born in Indiana. Also living on the farm was Lafayette Sundy, age 23, a common laborer. The value of Ralph McGee's real estate was $14,000. and his personal estate was valued at $2,000.

The 1880 census for Washington Township, Decatur County, Indiana lists Ralph Magee, age 53, head, a farmer, b. Ohio, his father b. in Pennsylvania, his mother b. ?; his wife, Sarah, age 48, b. Indiana, her father b. in Pennsylvania, mother b. in Ohio; a son, Ralph, age 19; a son, George, age 16; a son, James, age 14; a daughter, Martha, age 11; also living in the home were a servant, Bell Maffett, age 17; and Jim Sundy, age 25, a farm laborer.

The following biographical sketch was taken from the 1882 Atlas for Decatur County, Indiana, published by J. H. Beers & Co.:

“RALPH MCGEE, Washington Township.

“Mr. McGee was the eldest son of John McGee, who came from Ireland and settled in Pittsburgh, Penn., from which place he moved to Butler County, Ohio, and there married Miss Jane Cassell, who was a native of South Carolina. He was a tailor by trade, and, as was the fashion in those days, went from house to house, converting the homespun fabrics of the people into such garments as the times demanded.

“As a volunteer in the war of 1812, he served in the campaign which followed Hull’s surrender. For this service, he received the usual allotment of bounty land.

“Ralph was born in Butler County January 8, 1827. From the time when he was ten years of age, he “worked out” as a farm laborer, or at whatever he could turn his hand to that would secure an honest income. He managed to get a few weeks schooling each year, broken and interrupted by the pressing needs of the situation in which he was placed.

“In March, 1853, having saved a margin of his earnings, he came to Decatur County and bought 141 acres of land in Sand Creek Township. He has exchanged lands and traded back and forth, as good opportunities have presented themselves, until now he is one of the heavy land-owners of the county.

“In 1850, he was united in marriage with Miss Sarah Jones, of Franklin County, Ind. She was the daughter of Phillip Jones, one of the pioneers of Franklin County. He entered lands there very early, and experienced many privations. His wife, Mrs. McGee’s mother, was a Crossly, which family settled on the Symmes Purchase in Ohio, while the Indians were yet troublesome.

“Mr. and Mrs. McGee are the parents of nine children, all of whom are living. They are: John P., married and living in Clay Township; Sarah J., now Mrs. Lundy of Clay Township; William H., married and living in Clay Township; Charles L., married and living in Clay Township; Mary E., now Mrs. Wyncoop of Sand Creek Township; Ralph T., George M., James A., and Mattie M. The four last-named are at home with their parents.

“Mr. McGee makes a specialty of raising market hogs, in which business he has been remarkably successful. He was also one of the pioneers in the practical application of the principles of under-draining for reclaiming cold and unproductive lands. When that subject was first agitated by the leading agriculturists of the country, it was thought by many to be only a “book whim,” and that it was really “burying money” in the ground to no purpose. In fact, but few of the farmers could be persuaded to engage in the practice. Mr. McGee, however, was convinced that it was the only way to make the lands productive, and he at once began to advocate the system in all reasonable ways. He laid tiles in his own lands, and finding plenty of good material conveniently at hand, he commenced the manufacture of tile, which was disposed of as much with the view of benefiting the lands of the neighborhood as of making money directly from the sale of the manufactured article. In this he has been rewarded by the increase in value of the real estate of his immediate locality, including his own, and in the greater productiveness of the soil thereof. He is now the owner of two establishments for the making of drain tiles, and is one of the principal manufacturers of this article in Decatur County. He is also a member of the Indiana Tile Makers Association.

“His home is a pleasant one, surrounded by whatever is necessary to promote the comfort of its occupants. Its doors are ever open to his friends and neighbors, and few there are who enjoy a social hour better than he, as many a tired and luckless “bird-shooter” can testify. In short, there is no better place to be “caught in a storm” – none where a heartier welcome or more bountiful cheer will be offered – than at the home of “Rafe McGee.”

“Himself and family are members of the Liberty Baptist Church, and are firm supporters of the best means for promoting the welfare of the community, and for sustaining the principles of an intelligent and free government.”

Note: As previously mentioned in the Introduction section, the above biographical sketch, as well as the obituary below, contain some erroneous information. No doubt, the obituary relied to a great extent upon the above sketch for much of its information. Ralph’s father was indeed named John McGee, but he was not born in Ireland nor did he arrive in Butler County, Ohio from that country in 1810. Ralph’s father was born in Beaver County, Pennsylvania, and was a resident there at the time of the 1820 U.S. Census. He relocated to Butler County, Ohio shortly after 1820. Ralph McGee’s death certificate, on file at the Decatur County Health Department in Greensburg, Indiana, clearly states that his father was named John McGee, and that he was born in the state of Pennsylvania. (The name and birthplace of his mother was left blank.) Also, both the 1880 and 1900 U.S. Census reports for Decatur County which list Ralph McGee as head of the household designate Pennsylvania as the birthplace of his father. This author suspects that it may have been Ralph’s grandfather who came to Pennsylvania from Ireland, although no evidence has yet been uncovered to substantiate that idea.

The 1900 census for south half of Washington Township, Decatur County, Indiana lists Ralph McGee, age 73, head, a farmer, b. Ohio, father b. in Pennsylvania, mother b. in Pennsylvania; his wife, Sarah, age 68; and a daughter, Mattie, age 31. All nine of the couple's children were still living.

Ralph McGee and all of his family were members of the Liberty Baptist Church in Decatur County, and the following excerpt was taken from a written history of the church:

“The bell you can hear over the country side was given to the church about 1906 by Ralph McGee in memory of his wife, Sarah. He wanted all his children to be able to hear it ring. One of his children lived about 3 miles from the church, and the first bell he bought didn’t ring loud enough, so he made them take it down and put up one that would.”

The following article came from The Greensburg Standard, dated August 1907:

“A reunion of one of the best known and most prominent families in the county, the McGees, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of “Uncle” Ralph McGee. A large crowd of relatives and friends were present and it is needless to say that the gathering, which is held annually by this family, was one of the most pleasant in the history of such meetings.

“Among those present from a distance were Philip Jones and his wife and William Jones and wife, of Pendleton; Albert Jones, of Linton, and Wilbur McGee and wife, of Indianapolis.”

Ralph McGee died on June 20, 1909, outliving his wife, Sarah, by three years. He was 82 years old when he passed.

DEATH of RALPH MCGEE (The Greensburg Standard, Greensburg, Indiana, Friday, June 25, 1909, p. 1)

"Uncle Rafe" McGee, one of the most widely known farmers of Decatur County, died at his home, six miles southwest of Greensburg, and one mile east of Liberty church, at eleven o'clock Sunday morning. Funeral services were held at the home at one p.m. on Tuesday, Rev. F. M. Huckleberry of Seymour, a former pastor, officiating.

Ralph McGee was the son of John McGee, who was born in Ireland and came to Butler County, Ohio, in 1810. He served with credit in the U.S. Army in the War of 1812, and learned the trade of a tailor. He married Jane Cassell, and the subject of this sketch was born of this union on January 8, 1827. He worked on a farm when a boy and young man and learned the lessons of industry and frugality. In 1850, he married Sarah Jones, a resident of Franklin County, Indiana, and in 1853, the young couple came to Decatur County and bought 141 acres of land in the same neighborhood where they continued to reside until the wife's death three years ago. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1900 with a big family reunion, and for years observed the happy custom of having annual reunions at the old homestead. Since the death of his good wife Mr. McGee continued to reside at the old home.

Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. McGee, all of whom survive: John Philip, Mrs. Sarah J. Lundy, William H., Mrs. Mary E. Wynkoop. Charles L., Ralph T., George M., James A., and Mattie M. All live within three miles of the old home. Also twenty-two grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Mr. McGee was known thirty and forty years ago as a producer of heavy Poland China hogs, and the weights of some of his droves were the wonder of the times and were rarely equaled.

In another line he was noted. It was that of a tile maker. Some forty-five years ago he established a tile factory, one of the first in this part of the country, and after draining his own land and showing the practical value of such tiling, the farmers of that section hastened to follow his example. As a result some of the finest land in the county was made fertile. This industry and that of farming made Mr. McGee one of the wealthy men of Decatur County. He was honorable in all his dealings with his fellow men and was held in high esteem for his many good traits of character.

He was a genial whole-souled man, and his home was one that was noted for unstinted hospitality. Such men bring sunshine and help to many a discouraged fellow traveler over the rough places in life's journey. Such a man was Ralph McGee, and as such he will long be pleasantly remembered.

In his political belief he was an adherent to the Republican party and was for many years a prominent member of the Liberty Baptist church. He and his good wife reared a splendid family of children, who will always recall with deep gratitude their parents who reared them under such favorable circumstances.

Mr. McGee became a subscriber to The Standard soon after coming to the county and was therefore on our honor roll of those who have taken our paper for more than a half century.

The following excerpt was taken from "The History of Decatur County, Indiana," edited by Lewis A. Harding, published by B. F. Bowen, in 1915, pages 1092 - 1094.

Isaac Newton Wynkoop

It is interesting, especially to young men just starting out on the highway of life, to understand the story of the toil and struggle of men whose success in life has already been attained. There is a flavor of romance in the career of any successful man. For instance, Isaac Newton Wynkoop, a farmer of Sand Creek Township, Decatur County, began his married life in 1874, when he had less than one hundred dollars in money or property. During the first years of his married life he and his wife lived in an old log house and rented land. His first financial venture was the purchase of eighty acres of land on credit, which he eventually paid for, and then purchased forty-one acres on the west of his original farm. Subsequently, he bought forty acres more, for which he was able to pay cash. Still later he purchased a hundred and thirty acres of improved land, but this was only four years ago. At this time, however, when eleven thousand dollars was required to pay for the farm, he paid all of it in cash except fourteen hundred dollars. For his first tract of eighty acres Mr. Wynkoop paid forty dollars an acre; for the second tract of forty-one acres he paid fifty dollars an acre; for the third tract of forty acres he paid seventy-five dollars, and for the last he paid practically eighty-five dollars an acre. Thus has the value of farming land increased in the past quarter century.

As Mr. Wynkoop's wealth grew he was able to provide himself, his wife and his children with greater comfort and about 1894 began extensive building operations. He now has one of the most attractive homes in Sand Creek Township. There are four barns included in two sets of buildings. Altogether Mr. Wynkoop owns now two hundred and ninety-one acres of land, worth probably thirty thousand dollars. His home farm is worth at least two hundred dollars an acre and is well improved. Mr. Wynkoop rents out his corn land.

Born on February 24, 1850, on a farm in Franklin County, Isaac Newton Wynkoop is the son of James and Barbara (Hetterick) Wynkoop, the former was born in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania, July 19, 1817, and died, February 27, 1893, and the latter was born, January 23, 1817, in Pennsylvania, and died, November 30, 1903. James Wynkoop was brought to Franklin County, Indiana, by his parents when a lad of four years, and they, in 1853, came to Decatur County, purchasing a farm where the village of Horace is now situated. Mrs. Barbara Wynkoop was the daughter of John and Catherine Hetterick. She was married to James Wynkoop, February 27, 1840. Of the ten children born to James and Barbara (Hetterick) Wynkoop all are now living except two, Mrs. Mary McCracken who was the wife of Thomas McCracken, and Mrs. Rebecca McCracken who was the wife of James McCracken. They were the third and fourth born in a family of five sons and five daughters. The living children are as follows: Mrs. Sarah Howell of Kansas; William, a veteran of the Civil War and a farmer of Clay Township; Mrs. Martha Meyers, the wife of J. A. Meyers, of Washington Township; Isaac N., the subject of this sketch; John, who lives near Waldron, in Shelby County; James, of Sand Creek Township; Charles, who lives with his brother, William, in Clay Township; and Mrs. Nevada Davis, the wife of John L. Davis, of Letts Corner.

On September 31, 1874, at the age of twenty-four, Isaac Newton Wynkoop was married to Mary Elizabeth McGee, who was born on April 8, 1854, in Sand Creek Township, within one-half mile of her present home. Mary Elizabeth McGee was the daughter of Ralph and Sarah (Jones) McGee, the former was born, January 8, 1827, and died, June 20, 1909, and the latter was born, April 12, 1832, and died, February 3, 1906. Ralph McGee was the son of John McGee, a native of Ireland, who emigrated to Butler County, Ohio, in 1810. John McGee was a soldier in the War of 1812. A tailor by occupation, he married Jane Cassell. The late Ralph McGee, who began life a poor boy, became a very wealthy man, and in March, 1853, removed to Decatur County, Indiana. He was a pioneer breeder of Poland China hogs, and established a tile factory in this county, which he operated for many years. He was known as a good man and a faithful and loyal member of the Baptist church. In politics he was a Republican. His wife was a woman of most lovable disposition, a woman of strong religious nature, conscientious and kind-hearted not only in her own family, but in the neighborhood where she lived. She knew what it meant to toil as did also her husband, who had made his own way in the world from the time he was ten years old. At the time they came to Decatur County in 1853, they purchased a hundred and forty-one acres of land in Washington Township, and here they lived to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. Ralph McGee's land was well improved and especially well drained with tile which he himself had laid.

The McGees have an especially splendid record for longevity. All of the nine children of Ralph and Sarah (Jones) McGee are living. The names of the children in the order of their birth are as follows: John Philip, of Clay Township; Mrs. Sarah J. Lundy, of Clay Township; William H., of Clay Township; Mrs. Mary E. Wynkoop; Charles L., of Greensburg; Ralph T., of Greensburg; George M., of Greensburg; James A., of Washington township; Mattie M., the wife of Edward Samuels, of Washington.

To Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Newton Wynkoop there have been born three children (daughters), two of whom are married, and all of whom are living. Cora, married Ira A. Moore. They have two children, Mabel and Mary, and reside in Clay township. Gertrude married Walter Boling, of St. Paul, Indiana, who is the proprietor of the feed and grist-mill at that place. Martha, the youngest of the family lives at home with her parents.

It can hardly be expected that Mr. Wynkoop has ever busied himself with very much else but his own business. He is a Republican, but has never taken an active interest in politics. He has been too busy with his own personal affairs, providing for himself and his family a competence. Mr. and Mrs. Wynkoop are people of strong religious instincts and devout and faithful church members. They belong to the Liberty Baptist church. Mr. and Mrs. Wynkoop stand high in the community where they live. Their success is not accidental and their fortune is self acquired. They are delightful people to know, hospitable in their home, kind and considerate to those who have been less fortunate and less successful.

Death Comes To Man Injured In Motor Accident (Greensburg Daily News, Greensburg, Ind., April 16, 1927, p.1)

Raymond McGee Succumbs After 24 Hour Paralysis

Raymond McGee, 24, well known auctioneer and motor route carrier out of the Daily News office for the Greensburg News and the Indianapolis News, who was injured near Ewington station at 9 a.m. yesterday when the tire of his car burst and threw him into the ditch, passed away at 9 a.m. today, just 24 hours after the accident.

The young man remained in a semi-conscious condition all yesterday and last night at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. McGee, one half mile north of Liberty church, where he was taken in the Schultz ambulance after the accident occurred.

The deceased was a son of Ernest T. and Mary Wagner McGee and the only child. He was born Aug. 10, 1903, and was not quite 24 years of age. He was married Feb. 6, 1925, to Wilma Herndon who, with a baby daughter, Sarah Jane, aged three months, survives.

Two months ago Mr. McGee bought a home on the Columbus Pike, five miles west of town, and moved from this city to their own home.

Mr. McGee attended the Greensburg city schools and entered actively into the business of farming, real estate and auctioneering with his father when a mere lad, ten years ago. The firm of McGee & Son has maintained offices in the Edkins block for several years. Father and son have been closely associated in business for many years.

Raymond was a man of genial personality and had many friends throughout the city and county who will sincerely regret his passing away in the morning of life when the future seemed so promising for him.

He was a member of Greensburg lodge No. 148, K. of P., and belonged to the Liberty Baptist church since boyhood. He was sincere, faithful, true to all his spiritual duties. The father, mother, wife and daughter have the heartfelt sympathy of everybody in their sad bereavement.
